

Pro-Germans and Friends of Allies In Russian Plot

Monarchists and Maximalists United Against Soviet

Starvation the Plan Generals Savinkoff and Dvornikov Were to Cut Off the Food Supply

(By The Associated Press)
MOSCOW, June 8.—A recent counter-revolutionary plot against the Soviet government, according to a semi-official statement issued to-day, was backed by various elements in Russia opposed to the Soviet, and the leaders were Generals Savinkoff and Dvornikov. It was planned to cut off Central Russia from the Ural region and thus starve out the present government. The statement says:

"Investigations of the recent plot reveal this organization in all its ramifications. Under the title of the League for the Defense of the Fatherland and Liberty, the organization included all the reactionary elements in Russia, from the Maximalists to the Monarchists. The Monarchists side with Germany in the hope of restoring the monarchy, while the left wing favors a return to the alliance with the Western Powers.

"Notwithstanding the great divergence in the views dividing these parties, they agreed to unite on a so-called national platform in a common effort to overthrow the power of the Soviets. The central figures behind the plot are Generals Savinkoff and Dvornikov. The strategic plan is to isolate the Ural region from Central Russia and compel the Soviets to capitulate owing to the lack of supplies. Cossack troops with reactionary officers are holding themselves in readiness in the East. Numerous additional facts gradually are coming to light."

MOSCOW, May 30.—In connection with the discovery of a revolutionary plot, notices were posted in the city ordering all the inhabitants to register themselves again with the authorities under the penalty of imprisonment or heavy fine. It was further ordered that licenses for the possession of firearms must be renewed under penalty of death for violation.

MOSCOW, June 1.—An order issued by Foreign Minister Tchitcherine renews the prohibition upon the use of cipher codes by the Allied consuls at Vladivostok, Irkutsk and other Russian cities. They may now communicate with their respective governments at Tokyo and their home governments in code.

AMSTERDAM, June 13.—A peace treaty has been signed between Turkey and the Trans-Caucasus government, says a telegram from Constantinople.

Previous to the signing of the Brest-Litovsk treaty between Russia and the Central Powers, which ended the province of Kars, Batum and Erivan to Turkey, a separate government had been formed in the Trans-Caucasus region with a capital at Tiflis. After the Brest-Litovsk treaty Turkey proposed a separate peace to the Caucasus government, and it was announced that Turkey would recognize an autonomous government in the Caucasus. Peace negotiations were begun early in May, but simultaneously the Turks began an advance into the territory claimed under the Brest-Litovsk treaty. Batum, Yavandi and other cities were occupied and thousands of Armenians were massacred. Peace negotiations were then broken off for several days, owing to the Caucasus government's refusal to permit Turkish troops passage to Persia and to cede the city of Novorossiysk, on the Black Sea coast. Apparently the differences were settled and the negotiations carried to completion.

A Constantinople dispatch received in Washington on May 27 through German channels declared that the aim of the peace negotiations between Turkey and the Trans-Caucasus government was the subjection of the Trans-Caucasus to the Quadruple Alliance, as was the case with Ukraine, Poland and Rumania.

Russia Protests At New Advance of Teutons in Ukraine

LONDON, June 13.—The Germans in Ukraine began a new movement eastward on June 10, according to a Russian government wireless dispatch. Foreign Minister Tchitcherine has instructed Ambassador Joffe at Berlin to complain about the movement, which is on a width of 100 versts, on the Valukhi-Zpukovka station front, south of Moscow.

It is charged that the movement is in violation of the line of demarcation agreed upon by the German government. The Germans are asked to retire to their old positions.

Kerensky in Norway On Way to France, Says Former Aid

A PACIFIC PORT, June 13.—A. Konovoff, former Russian Minister of Commerce, who is here on his way to Washington, London and Paris, said that former Russian Minister Kerensky is on his way to France. Konovoff served as minister during Kerensky's administration and for a time was vice-president of the Cabinet. He was vice-president of the Duma during the Romanoff rule.

"The last I heard from Kerensky was through an indirect source," he said today. "At that time he was in Norway and was trying to reach France."

Bolsheviks to Send Ambassador to U. S., Copenhagen Reports

LONDON, June 13.—It is reported in Copenhagen, says a "Daily Mail" dispatch from that city, that M. Borovskiy-Odovsky, the Bolshevik Minister to Sweden, is to go to Washington as Bolshevik Ambassador to the United States. The minister is now in Berlin.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The appearance in Washington of a formal representative of the Bolshevik government would present as an issue the question of recognition of the Bolshevik by the United States government. At present Boris Bakhmetoff, who was sent to Washington by the Kerensky government, is the only person the State Department recognizes as Russia's representative, although he has been repudiated by the Lenin government, now in control at Moscow. The situation is anomalous and without precedent, but the conditions in Russia are such that State Department officials are justified in exercising their own judgment as to whom to recognize. The Bolshevik government is reported to have abolished all diplomatic titles, such as ambassador and minister, so that if Borovskiy-Odovsky is recognized at all by the State Department it must be under the designation of representative plenipotentiary.

Russia Beats Time Limit in German Demand by 2 Days

LONDON, June 13.—A Russian government wireless dispatch received here to-night, gives details of the correspondence concerning the German ultimatum to Russia, insisting on the return of the Russian Black Sea fleet from Novorossiysk, on the east coast, to Sebastopol, as a condition to the cessation of the German advance on the Ukrainian front. The ultimatum was delivered June 6 and set the time limit to June 11.

The dispatch says Foreign Minister Tchitcherine advocated acceptance of the demand because the return of the ships "is a fundamental condition for all further agreements between Germany and ourselves for the cessation of hostilities and for negotiations."

Premier Lenin, says the dispatch, ratified the decision and the naval authorities ordered the return of the ships by June 10.

The dispatch says M. Tchitcherine again has wired M. Joffe, the Russian Ambassador at Berlin, complaining of German advances in the Rostov region June 5, and also in the Ryk region and from the Rostov railway toward Veronezh, where the Germans captured Rovenki. He said also that the Germans had attempted to cut the Briansk railway in the neighborhood of the Kuzmilyar River.

Pleads America Can Save World By Saving Russia

Rehabilitating Russia was described as the shortest possible route to an Allied victory by L. M. Wourgaft, counsel to the Chamber of Commerce of Petrograd, Russia, in an address yesterday at the luncheon of the Rotary Club, at the McAlpin Hotel.

M. Wourgaft, who also was a director of the International Bank of Petrograd, was associated with the political forces in control immediately after the fall of the Romanoffs. "America can give Russia the talents she so sorely needs to rise from her chaos," he declared. "These are the talents of organization, initiative and a devotion to industry. Russia could give America boundless raw material. Russia could receive in return the manufactured articles."

"Before the present régime Russia had full confidence in America and her aims. Russia understood that without help from America she never could come back. America through helping Russia can solve the destinies of the world."

M. Wourgaft declared that the present Russian government existed because the average Russian is thoroughly ignorant of all politics. "Ninety per cent of the Russian population is rural," he said. "Ninety per cent of these farmers are peasants with no knowledge whatever of governmental affairs."

"The present government, by arming convicts and other undesirable, holds away. Persons who are not agreeable to their policies are killed."

Andrew Home-Morton and Thomas Stephenson, delegates from Great Britain to the Rotarian convention on June 24, were guests at the luncheon. In brief addresses they told of the unflinching attitude of the British people and the confidence in America's power felt by the Allies. Arch C. Klump, former international president, welcomed the British visitors.

Trawler Wins Honor Cordon Second Citation Gives French Vessel Unusual Distinction

(Correspondence of The Associated Press)
PARIS, June 1.—For the second time within six months the valiant little French trawler patrol boat Albatross II has been cited in General Orders for gallant conduct, and now is entitled to display the coveted signal letters, or cordon of the War Cross.

The Albatross earned this second distinction for sticking gamely by a British transport that had been twice torpedoed in the Mediterranean and for fighting off and probably sinking a German submarine. The fight occurred March 23, 1918, but the award has just been announced. The trawler's first citation was earned on October 13, 1917, for escorting to port a torpedoed steamer.

In the latest incident the British steamer Schadwell, conveyed by the small Italian cruiser Partenote, was attacked by a submarine early on the morning of March 23. Though torpedoed the Partenote remained on guard near by. A wireless call for help was sent out and the Albatross answered. As the French trawler came on the scene the submarine reappeared and again torpedoed the British steamer. The Partenote and the Albatross fired on the submarine, which submerged quickly. It again reappeared shortly afterward and prepared for a third attack on the Schadwell.

This time the submarine succeeded in sinking, not the Schadwell, but the Italian cruiser. Before the Partenote sank, the Albatross, though busy saving the crew of 115, managed to land a shot so near the submarine that oil and wooden wreckage came to the surface, tacit evidence of the raider's destruction.

With the submarine disposed of the Albatross stood by the British vessel until other aid arrived, when the Britisher was towed to an African port and the Albatross returned to France. The master of the Albatross was Timonier le Guilleux.

Cost of War to Britain Reaches $36,710,000,000
LONDON, June 13.—In the House of Commons on Tuesday next Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is expected to move a war appropriation of $2,500,000,000, making the total appropriations since the beginning of the war $36,710,000,000.

Miss Brodmerkel to Wed
Miss Dorothy Marie Brodmerkel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brodmerkel, Jr., will be married to Lieutenant William Raymond Nichols today in the Church of the Ascension, Fifth Avenue and Tenth Street. The wedding was scheduled for June 18, but the change was made on account of service orders received by the bridegroom.
